One signal, the whole funnel

For 12 weeks we test one approach in the US market: we reach companies at the moment they need help with growth, and we write to each one personally. Quality over volume.

12 weeks
start on November 9, results by February 14

3 triggers
funding round, sales hiring, new GTM leader

40–50
companies a week, each one checked by hand

1 GTM Map
covers the full cost of the pilot

THE PATH OF ONE COMPANY

Signal
a fresh event at the company

Preparation
the right people, verified email, personalization

Sequence
4 emails and LinkedIn over 2–3 weeks

Call
20 minutes with Sergey

GTM Scan → Map
then implementation

We find the moment a company needs help and write personally, with no mass mailings

Quantity never eats quality

Three pillars of the pilot

1

The right moment

- Series A–B round in the last 90 days
- Hiring in sales and marketing
- A new head of sales or marketing
- Reserve: a foreign company entering the US

2

A personal touch

- Companies are split into tiers: the stronger the signal, the more personal the email
- For the strongest ones, a mini GTM review before the call
- Every company passes a 5-point checklist
- No ads, no videos, no mass mailings

3

Transparent control

- A report every Friday
- Decision points in weeks 3, 6, 8 and 12
- A/B tests: one change at a time
- A weak trigger is swapped for the reserve

CALENDAR

Preparation	Launch, part 1	Pause	Launch, part 2	Results

What Karas gets

Results

- Knowledge, not guesses: which signals and touches get meetings with US companies
- First US calls and clients: about 8–9 calls and one GTM Map in the base case
- A working process: tools, templates and playbooks that stay with Karas
- A decision based on facts: scale, narrow or stop after 12 weeks

Budget for 12 weeks

Tools (on Karas accounts)	≈ $2,000
Project lead: 3 payments of $1,200, the first on approval	$3,600
Project lead bonus on every GTM Map sold	10%
To pay back the pilot, it takes	1 GTM Map

The plan comes in two versions: with mini reviews for the strongest companies (40 a week) and without them (50 a week). Details are in the documents.

Next step: your numbers → approval → start
